

-META LEADERSHIP NETWORK-

- where leaders can share, learn and speak their truth -

Meta has created a new kind of Leadership Network, one where Leaders from all sectors can learn from one another, share their leadership experiences, and speak their truth.

The world of work has changed significantly in the last decade: more must be delivered with less, and technological advances and changes in working habits means it's more challenging than ever to be a leader.

The Meta Leadership Network is an opportunity for all leaders in our Meta network to come together and share their experiences and help each other to overcome the common obstacles they face.

Each network meeting, facilitated by Meta's CEO Jo Clarkson and with guest speakers, will be around a theme. All leaders attending will be able to share their own best practice and develop their own leadership skills in a structured interactive half-day workshop.

The aim is to develop a mutually supportive network/environment where leaders can speak openly, share best practice, and learn how to thrive in today's challenging organisational workplace.

TOMORROW'S WORLD: AI, LEADERSHIP AND YOUR PEOPLE—APRIL 30th 2026

What will the workplace of tomorrow look like? What will the workforce of tomorrow need to thrive in an automated, technology-driven world?

As leaders, everyone looks to you for the answers. In this Meta Leadership Network event we're going to see if, together, we can find some!

Special guest speaker, Guy Woolley, COO of InnovateUK, has been researching AI for his own organisation. He'll talk us through what he thinks might be useful to consider—be that AI's practical applications, or to debunk some AI myths. AI and automation is here to stay, but it's not a silver bullet. What, as leaders, do you need to be doing now to make your people, your leaders and your organisations fit for the workplace of tomorrow? That's what we will explore together.

We are proud to be running this Meta leadership network event in collaboration with INNOVATEUK who will be hosting the event at their HQ, POLARIS HOUSE in Swindon.
